NEW BUSINESS SCHOOL

In total, the company fitted 2000m² of both internal and external wall and floor tiling with tiles supplied from Domus. Arena Tiling utilised adhesives and grouts from Mapei, and further adhesives and screeds from Nicholls and Clarke. Trims were supplied by Genesis.

The installation featured an ellipse-shaped tile feature, which lines up the inside main doors to the outside main doors. To create this, Arena Tiling cut the tiles using water-jet technology off-site.

Main contractor, that sub-contracted Arena Tiling, BAM, was particularly pleased with the company's work. Project manager for BAM, David Hawkins, comments: "The service and quality from Arena Tiling was exceptional on what was a very testing project and I will look forward in working with Arena on my next project."

The university, too, was pleased with the work Arena Tiling carried out – so much so, the company has been put forward to complete more work. The company is currently working on five of the new construction jobs at the university, at both its accommodation and academic buildings.

With many successful installations under its belt, Arena Tiling is also expanding. The company recently opened a regional office in Newcastle to cover its work in the north of England and Scotland, and an international office in Abu Dhabi, UAE, to better service its UAEbased clients.

The UAE office is anticipated to further benefit Arena Tiling, which recently completed work for the UAE Urban Planning Council two years ago.
